

The John C. Maxwell Leadership TEAMBUILDING GAME

People long to have meaningful relationships in their life and feel like they have a purpose. Because you spend one-third of your life at work, shouldn't the company you work for be a place where those desires are met? When your company provides a sense of belonging and purpose your employees are more likely to stay.

One of the ways Colene helps companies create and sustain community is to facilitate relationship and team building using John Maxwell's Team Building Leadership Game. This tool is an interactive and edifying way to assess communication, address difficult topics, and identify strengths and weaknesses. Through thought provoking questions, individual reflection, and ideological debates, any group will understand one another more deeply in order to perform more effectively.

Based on the leadership principles of John Maxwell, this 2- hour team building exercise benefits any group of people striving towards a common goal. Colene guides the players to assess communication, address difficult topics, and identify individual, team and organizational strengths and weaknesses.

This is a great tool for executive boards, C-teams, small to medium to large businesses and more. This will benefit and add value to any group of people working together towards a common goal.

Colene says the Teambuilding Leadership Game is simply the best team building tool she has come across. Clients love it!

